We all have things that we want, such as a new car, a new game or a shopping spree. Then there are things that we need. How do we define what is needed and what is wanted in our lives?

Class Activity

List five needs and five wants that you have as an individual. As a class, share these lists and compile the results. Are your needs and wants in agreement with everyone in the class? Write a paragraph explaining why people's needs and wants may be the same and different.
